

Tana's Story

"A few years ago, our beloved cat Tana got clipped by a car. His injuries were relatively minor as such incidents go ... no broken bones, but some bad bruising and lots of pain. After a few days, his situation became worse because the pain medication was interfering with his ability to move his bowels in a way that was truly life threatening. None of the treatments recommended by the vet were really working. Luckily, my dear friend Donna asked if she could do a reiki treatment or two on him to see if it would help. Oh, my goodness! The first session alone seemed to ease some of Tana's pain & he appeared less distressed. My son, Cam, and I also benefited from just watching it and we all slept easier that night. The day after the second session, Tana finally succeeded in eliminating his bowels and there was great rejoicing! (Seriously, I have never been so happy to clean out his box.) It's hard to say for sure, because Tana can't speak for himself, but I can't help but believe the therapy was beneficial to him and instrumental in saving his life. I will forever be grateful to Donna for taking Tana into her healing hands!" – J.A.
